

Global response classes and stimulus bias remain comparable across fish

